Dr. Blaylock Recommends the Waterwise 8800

"Simple water filters and reverse osmosis systems may initially cost less, but their effectiveness is relatively poor when compared to steam distillation. Many biological and chemical contaminants are able to get through these inferior systems. Distillation can eliminate your water quality concerns, once and for all."

"I find the Waterwise 8800 to be excellent. It is easy to use and easy to clean. In addition, it is a very attractive, compact unit that does not take up a lot of shelf space. Most important, it distills faster than many brands on the market and is quiet in its operation. A real plus is the built-in carbon filter system, which removes volatile organic chemicals (VOCs). In the past, people had to buy a separate carbon filter system to produce really pure water. The Waterwise system solves this problem. I strongly endorse the 8800. It's one of the best distillers I have seen."
